

Mental health awareness and suicide prevention have always had significant value to Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity at the University of Maryland, College Park. Unfortunately, many of our brothers have either directly experienced mental health problems or have had loved ones affected by mental illness. More now than ever, mental health awareness is crucial to our community, with millions of people's well-being affected due to the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

We're working with the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (AFSP) to raise as much money as possible for this philanthropy mission. We have raised over $50,000 for this cause in the past and want to continue that tradition. We ask that you donate to the foundation as much as you are comfortable with, as all proceeds go to a fabulous and very relevant cause that affects millions of people every year.
